

Beware Mr. Officer, Tread Carefully Novel

Chapter 61 To 65

Chapter 61: I Was Simply Guessing

Jian Qi smiled and told him the truth, "I told them Cheng Feng was only practising with me, how can a weak girl like me beat him up! They can go ask Cheng Feng themselves if they don't believe me."

"You really said that?" Coco was shocked, "Aren't you afraid that Cheng Feng will tell the truth!"

Jian Qi lifted her red hair with a smirk and said, "Being beaten up by a girl is way too embarrassing for a man. Even if Cheng Feng wanted to kill me because of this, he will not let anyone know that he was no match for a woman. His ego is way too big for a normal man."

"Hence, he will thank me for protecting his ego for him!"

Coco frowned, Jian Qi was rather right in that sense.

"I really hope that what you said was true." Coco then went back to his own room to wash up. He was still worried though, so he made a phone call.

Coco tried to disguise himself after he left the apartment, but then he realized what Jian Qi had said was true. There was not a single reporter outside the apartment.

"I told you I made them leave," Jian Qi said as she shook her head speechlessly.

Coco went online half an hour later and found out that Cheng Feng had already responded to the media.

Cheng Feng responded just as Jian Qi had expected, he agreed with what Jian Qi had told the reporters!

"You little rascal, how can you be so precisely on point?"

“Well, I was simply guessing...” Jian Qi raised her eyebrow and replied calmly, “Didn’t think that I guessed it correctly.”

Coco, “...”

Girl, you have got to be kidding me?!

Chu Yuhan had been excitedly hoping that today’s news would utterly destroy Jian Qi, but she never thought that things would not have gone as she expected.

She did not understand why Cheng Feng had not used the media to stop Jian Qi but instead affirmed the whole situation for her.

Why would he do that for Jian Qi?

The team had also prepared a council’s letter for this imaginary issue that was essentially problematic.

Chu Yuhan thought that this would ruin her reputation completely. How could this end even before everything had started!

Seeing everything fall apart before it had even started left Chu Yuhan very frustrated. Especially now that Jian Qi’s career was growing prosperously while she was still acting as a minor character in the scenes.

This huge difference had caused the jealousy in Chu Yuhan to grow even more.

As she stared at her phone, she felt the urge to upload yesterday’s video online.

Coco’s face turned pale once he saw the video that had gone viral online.

Jian Qi raised an eyebrow. “How much does this person hate me?”

“Well, you clearly do not seem stressed out?”

“What should I be afraid of when Cheng Feng has already denied it? Now that the video is out, if he were to take a different stand, it would hurt his ego even more.

“I’m just really curious as to who would want to ruin my reputation so badly?” Jian Qi smiled.

Chapter 62: Should I Change My Looks?

Coco quickly stopped her from getting any weird ideas after seeing that creepy smile on her face.

Coco had been in this industry for a long time, hence he knew that this was not something hard to deal with. In fact, Cheng Feng had already denied it.

It would be solved as long as Coco spread the news saying that Jian Qi was just rehearsing for her role in “King of Gun” with Cheng Feng, and that her extraordinary performance was of a professional standard that was comparable to a professional Wushu artist.

After an agreement among the “King of Gun” producers, they decided to leak the rehearsal and competition between Jian Qi and the Wushu director which would be shown on the weekends after the release of “King of Gun”.

Suddenly, all the awful comments about Jian Qi beating someone up turned into compliments.

Even the show “King of Gun” had been getting good reviews, and Jian Qi’s personality had been evolving ever since!

In “King of Gun”, cold-blooded Lady Kao sacrificed herself for love. A ruthless, bloodthirsty spy who seemed innocent in front of the love of her life. Jian Qi had interpreted this role perfectly.

Now that the video of Jian Qi “beating” people up had gone viral, her neat and sturdy movements had caught the attention of the audience.

Looking at the change of comments online, Jian Qi then took a picture of herself holding a gun with deadly eyes, and posted it with the caption: ‘Do you wanna try?’

Coco soon found out and tried to stop her, but it was too late as she had already uploaded it in just a few seconds. People had already been sharing and commenting on the picture, some might have even taken screenshots of the picture.

Surprisingly, there was not a single negative comment about Jian Qi, but almost all of the comments were about how cool she looked.

“Jian Qi has killer eyes doesn’t she?”

“My Qi is so cool!”

“I like her so much!”

“Her stance is on point, I think I might turn gay for her, ahh... she’s so hot!”

“I want to carry my exquisitely beautiful Qi home...”

Reading those comments made Coco laugh so hard. He looked at Jian Qi breathlessly. “I should take a picture of your evil look right now and post it online too.”

“Then should I change my looks?” Jian Qi replied calmly.

‘Girl, where’s your image?’

Chapter 63: This Girl is Unbelievable!

Chu Yuhan did not expect that after the video of Jian Qi beating up someone had gone viral, not only was her reputation not ruined, but it had made her even more famous.

Jian Qi was so popular that the release of the movie “King of Gun” had resulted in her popularity skyrocketing, surpassing that of the main actress in the movie.

“Would you like to continue this contract?” Coco asked her.

Jian Qi shook her head and looked at her phone. Her results were going to be released the next day, and she would be very busy.

Coco took a deep breath and asked her, “Do you really want to quit?”

“Do you really want me to stay that badly?” Jian Qi smiled.

“Yes, but I would still respect your decision,” Coco nodded and said.

“How about we make a deal. Let’s not talk about me quitting, but I will not sign the contract either. However, if I come back after I’m tired of fooling around, you will still be my manager. Deal?”

Jian Qi smiled. “During the days that I would be missed, I just want people to realize that whoever is managed by Coco will assuredly become popular!”

“Coco is definitely capable!”

Coco immediately felt a sense of warmth in his heart. ‘Little rascal, do you have to be so sweet.’

“Since you have thought this through, I won’t force you...” Coco reached out his hand for the contract. He tore the contract into pieces and threw it into the rubbish bin.

“Your results will be out by midnight, so, I shall stay here with you. But please don’t cry.” Coco smiled and teased her.

“...You better not cry too, I don’t want you to be blind!”

After dinner, they waited till midnight. Jian Qi switched on her laptop and keyed in her password.

Coco was in shock after he looked at her results.

“How did you make it through?”

Jian Qi touched Coco’s hair and said, “Be good, I’m going to sleep now. The interview notice for the National Defense Academy should arrive within two days’ time, hence I’ll need to do some training to not be eliminated inside!”

Coco was in disbelief as he sat in front of the laptop.

She obtained full marks for all the categories.

This girl was unbelievable!

Was this year's highest achiever award for college examination going to be from Bolin High School?

That was why she was so confident that she would be able to get into the National Defense Academy. Her results alone were good enough!

However, would she pass the physical fitness test?

Coco then remembered the video of her beating up Cheng Feng, and he realized that as her manager, he did not really know the girl that he had been managing for ten years.

He sat in front of the computer the whole night, looking up the website of the National Defense Academy, and today was the first time they announced the admission name list.

He could not believe that Jian Qi's name was at the top of that name list.

She really did it!

In fact, she did it with her extraordinary college examination results!

Jian Qi received the interview notice three days later. The interview would determine whether or not she could be enrolled.

On the same night, her class had a gathering. When Jian Qi arrived, the laughter of her classmates turned into awkward silence.

Chapter 64: Qiqi, Can You Forgive Me?

Nobody who was at the class gathering would have believed that Jian Qi would make it into the National Defense Academy before their exam.

They could not have thought that she would obtain the highest marks for their college examination result.

Jian Qi walked into the room calmly and immediately sat down in a corner by herself.

Even though everyone inside the room felt awkward after Jian Qi made her appearance, yet some of them still wanted to get close to her because of her fame.

They were like strangers to her. She was not affected by their sudden interest in her.

Chu Yuhan was happy about her satisfactory results. She arrived at the gathering with a high spirit, but the moment she saw people gathering around Jian Qi, she immediately felt irritated.

She knew that Jian Qi's results were astounding. The media had even reported Jian Qi's extraordinary result publicly and she was immediately given another title, 'Scholar Lord'.

She was starring in a film before the exam which caused everyone to have an opinion about her attitude toward her own studies. However, since the release of their results, everyone's opinion did not matter anymore.

After the graduation party, everyone would drift apart to further their own studies. Hence, everyone at the party was rather happy yet reluctant, since it might be the last time everyone would gather around.

As Chu Yuhan was playing beer pong with a few other classmates, she noticed Jian Qi who was sitting alone in a corner playing with her phone.

She saw the wine glass in front of Jian Qi, and she smirked. She excused herself and left the room. Ten minutes later, she came back and went to the drinks area.

She dropped a pill into one of the fruit punches when no one was looking, lifted the glass and waited for the pill to dissolve completely in the drink. She then brought along the glass and walked to where Jian Qi was sitting.

"Qiqi..." Chu Yuhan called out her name softly with a bright smile on her face as if they were still friends.

Jian Qi shuddered. She ignored her and continued her reading in preparation for the interview for the National Defense Academy.

Some people just would not stop bothering her.

Chu Yuhan sat herself down beside Jian Qi. “Qiqi, we won’t be seeing each other soon. I just want to apologize about all the things I have done. We have been friends for so many years, can you forgive me?”

She passed her the wine glass that had been drugged. “Drink with me if you would forgive me, please? Qiqi, I’m sorry...”

Chu Yuhan eloquently persuaded Jian Qi in such a way that if she did not accept her apology, it would seem like Jian Qi was the one who was in the wrong.

Their classmates have gathered around them. “Qiqi, Yuhan has already apologized, just forgive her would you?”

“We are all classmates. Why don’t you just forgive her?”

“Forgive her already.”

Everyone became anxious, hoping that Jian Qi would forgive Chu Yuhan. But Jian Qi still did not respond.

Chu Yuhan put down the wine glass and tugged at Jian Qi’s sleeves. “Qiqi, what can I do so that you’ll forgive me?”

Chapter 65: Little Tang Tang, Why are you here?

Jian Qi kept quiet.

She bent forward and reached for her own drink. Chu Yuhan stared at the two wine glasses she put on the table earlier on. Jian Qi knew what was going on but she decided to remain silent.

She picked up her own glass and held it in her hand.

“I’m really sorry, Qiqi. Can you please forgive me?” Chu Yuhan said with watery red eyes as if she was about to cry out loud.

Everyone started to calm Chu Yuhan down and persuade Jian Qi to forgive her.

Deep down, Jian Qi was sneering at the situation. People would always think that it was so easy to forgive and forget when they were not the ones involved.

Jian Qi told herself that the person she used to be was already dead. She believed that she would be ruined if the person she used to be was not dead.

Now everyone thinks that she was a cold-hearted person just because of these fake tears.

How stupid!

Jian Qi peeped at Chu Yuhan. She then put down her own glass, and quickly exchanged the placement of the two glasses Chu Yuhan had brought over.

Everyone's attention was on Chu Yuhan, hence nobody noticed what she did.

When Chu Yuhan came to her senses, she merely saw Jian Qi reaching out to take the glasses.

She was afraid that Jian Qi would pick the glass nearest to Chu Yuhan, she then quickly lifted the glass nearest to her and passed the one that she thought had been drugged to Jian Qi.

"Qiqi, forgive me please?"

Jian Qi sneered and took the glass from her.

They cheered and Chu Yuhan quickly downed her own glass and showed it to Jian Qi out of excitement.

Jian Qi sneered in irony and then drank her glass of wine.

As soon as Jian Qi finished her drink, the door was opened with great force, and everyone turned around. A guy with a good figure and handsome looks was standing there. His mighty aura made everyone in the room go quiet.

The guy looked around the room and stopped at Jian Qi.

He glanced at her and her empty glass, and then walked toward her with frustration.

He picked up her glass and threw it aside.

As the glass broke, he pulled Jian Qi off the sofa and left the room with her.

When everyone realized what had happened, Jian Qi was no longer in the room.

Chu Yuhan frowned. Jian Qi should not be leaving now!

She quickly stood up and chased after them.

Jian Qi gazed at the frustrated man. "Little Tang Tang, why are you here?"

Tang Jinyu kept quiet and dragged Jian Qi toward another room. They entered the room filled with men. The men stopped whatever they were doing when they saw Jian Qi.

Jian Qi greeted them calmly. "Hi, good to see all of you!"

"Jian Qi?!" Someone from the crowd shouted in excitement. Feng Yi was especially happy.

Jian Qi looked around and saw many familiar faces.

'Aren't they the crew that worked together with Tang Jinyu?'

'So, these men are his colleagues or his subordinates?'

"Feng Yi, is she your goddess?" the guy with Crocodile as his nickname asked.

Feng Yi gazed at Jian Qi. "Jian Qi, why would you...?"

"I'm leaving now!" Tang Jinyu cut Feng Yi short, and dragged Jian Qi along with him.

"Hey boss, why are you..." Feng Yi could not help but holler after him but the door was already closed shut and they had left.
